LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD

Albatros

A colorful illustration of a forest scene. In the foreground, Little Red Riding Hood, wearing a red hooded cloak and a red dress, is walking away from the viewer on a winding path. She is carrying a basket of food. In the background, a small house with a red roof and yellow windows is visible. A woman in a blue dress and white apron is standing in the doorway of the house. To the left of the house, a squirrel is perched on a large green tree. To the right, a large, dark brown wolf with a menacing expression is partially hidden behind green bushes. The scene is set in a lush green forest with various trees and bushes.

One day, Little Red Riding Hood went to visit her grandmother.

In the forest, she met a Big Bad Wolf.

He disguised himself
as her. When Little Red Riding Hood arrived,
she gasped:

“Why are your eyes, ears, and mouth so big, Grandma?”

“All the better to eat you with!”
replied the wolf.

Deep, dark woods can be quite scary. Shh!!
Who's that hiding behind the tree? Is that a Big Bad Wolf? Make sure not to tell him where we're headed . . .

This classic fairy tale, in a fun new format with specially cut pages, is sure to captivate little readers.
Page by page, the story will unveil itself right before your very eyes.
