WE'RE OFF TO THE FOREST

ALBATROS

Today, Dad and I are going into the forest.

... but we're not the only ones.

Year after year, there are ever fewer acorns in our forest ...

... it will grow into a mighty tree with lots of acorns.

For all of us.

WE'RE OFF TO THE FOREST

Katarina Macurová

Autumn is here. The forest is awash with color. Leaves flutter to the ground and rustle underfoot. It's getting colder and the animals are preparing for winter. Amidst this backdrop, a squirrel and his son go to the forest every day... for something secret and very special.

Get ready for a story tender and warm, about an ordinary yet extraordinary forest, the ordinary yet extraordinary treasure within it, and how even little things can change our great big world.
